MUSEUM

Unleash the transformative potential of art through the Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum's Thinking Through Art program! Ignite student joy, and rediscover your passion for education. Dive into Visual Thinking Strategies and watch as critical thinking and social-emotional learning flourish in your classroom.

Join fellow educators from BPS, teaching all subjects and grade levels, for an enriching yearlong journey.

We've designed this course to fit your busy schedule. Thinking Through Art includes:

- Free Museum visits, including transportation costs, plus unlimited access to the Gardner Museum through family admission passes and teacher memberships.
- Summer, fall, and spring professional development workshops where you earn PDPs or graduate credits.
- A multi-grade level curriculum of culturally-sustaining visual art that aligns with BPS-adopted curriculums.

The PD sessions will kick off with a week in the galleries at the Gardner in August. Space is limited; use the QR code to apply today to secure your spot in the 2024-25 cohort of Thinking Through Art and share this opportunity with your colleagues.
